

Justine represents the Corbet School as our Careers Enterprise Advisor and is hugely passionate about supporting young people and helping them consider their onward journey after leaving school. Justine's core skills and experience is within HR and People Development and has spent more than 25 years leading strategic initiatives that focus on maximising people performance in the workplace, which also includes implementing a variety of Apprenticeship programmes and work experience placements. Her current role is Chief People Officer for a national Healthcare Company where their values are centred around 'People First. Justine has two teenage children and personal experience of the Corbet School with her daughter having left in 2021.

